Response to Arguments

The amendment filed on April 17, 2008 under 37 CFR 1.116 in reply to the final rejection has been considered but is not deemed to place the application in condition for allowance and will not be entered because: the proposed amendment raises new issues that would require further consideration and/or search. The amendment has not been entered for the following reasons:

The amendment adds a new limitation to the polynucleotide of claim 1 (and therefore claims depending therefrom), wherein the polynucleotide encodes a fusion polypeptide comprising at least two different complementing heterologous protein destabilization sequences. The term "complementing" would warrant a new rejection under 112, 2nd paragraph, as being indefinite since it is not clear to the Examiner what applicants mean by the above term and a perusal of the specification did not provide the Examiner with a specific definition for the above term. Therefore, the newly amended claim warrants further consideration on these newly incorporated limitations, necessitating a new search in the prior art and/or a new rejection.

In view of the non-entry of the above amendment filed on April 17, 2008, all previous rejections are maintained for reasons of record.

None of the claims are allowable.
